Chapter 1 : General Information about AISCCON

Formation:

We are “All India Senior Citizens’ Confederation” (AISCCON), in existence since 2001, the largest senior citizens organisation in India. We are cultivating purposeful and dignified life with care and love for Senior Citizens. AISCCON is an Apex body of affiliated senior citizens forums, associations & federations in over 19 States of India. Our brief is available at website: www.aisccon.org. AISCCON has been honoured by Government of India with “Institutional Vayoshreshtha Samman – 2012’. We operate through an elected body every three years, maintain central council representatives from majority of its affiliated organisations. We are thus a collective voice of seniors concerns in India. Through our affiliated forums, associations and federations, we have an outreach to over 2 million senior citizens, majority in the rural India.

Present scenario:

It is nice to get recognised as senior citizen upon attaining a time line of 60 years age going upto life transition - an ultimate destination of entire humanity. Elderlies perform as the reservoirs & conduits for transferring the human values; share their life’s experience; nurture intergenerational equity & add value in the lifestyle evolution. However, we have a substantial number of economically deprived elderlies amongst over 160 millions seniors in India; many earning their livelihood until their life transition with limited access to health care, sanitation, safe drinking water & other life support needs. Majority of our senior citizens are facing neglect in economic policies on many counts effecting their life support needs in the recent past. Be it depleting interest rates, access to health care, inadequacy of funds for the approved schemes of various Ministries, very low pensions, respite in Income Tax laws in areas other than health insurance, access to national digital literacy mission programs, feeling of insecurity of fixed deposits with the commercial Banks and many more. There are some countries where such economic disparity is less the seniors are emerging as an assets and in many other countries the seniors are becoming the welfare receiving segment. We in India having majority of seniors in economically deprived category the policies have to get inclined towards them as only the minority can be transformed into value adding segment in the society through initiatives like silver economy.

We do have seniors living in old age homes on the mercy and charity to many seniors earning their livings until lifetime as compulsion to seniors home confined due to health and COVID19 concerns to some seniors enjoying their pension to a select few heading a vast empire of wealth. Majority of the seniors are economically sunk and emotionally sound and some economically sound and emotionally sunk. The living conditions are also quite diversified in about a million villages to over 1000 urban settlements; from negligible to very expensive health care facilities. Their issues are equally diverse too ranging from emotional distress, health, nutrition, security, well being and more. We believe that Indian diversity demands segmentation of domains for any strategic policies implementation and assessing its effectiveness. Contributing to the lives of seniors; while they are in need; is therefore a prudent act in maintaining the social fabric.

Regulating Body:

As of now we have an Executive Committee for the term 2019-2022 comprising President, Vice Presidents, Secretary General, Secretary Finance and Secretaries, Joint Secretaries (See Annexure I) based in the various States of India. The Executive Committee meets at regular intervals, in person as well as on digital platform during the pandemic and steers the operations. There are 13 Advisory committees working on different issues of concern. The CSR Advisory Committee is one of them. The second line of command is the Central Council Members who have the voting rights to elect the executive committee and also vote on the major issues raised in Annual General Meeting held every year. Thus organisation works on democratic set up with transparency and respecting the voice of seniors from our affiliates / networked organisations spread in the various States of India.

News Council:

Our News Council is based in Hyderabad city (details of officials with their contacts are attached in the Annexure II). The entire inputs of events during a month are consolidated by the News Council and a digital version of Newsletter is prepared. This gets circulated through the e-mails to the various digitally literate members. The News Council continually strives for enhancing the outreach of the Newsletter across the country. CSR committee also brings out a quarterly newsletter copies of which can be downloaded from our website www.aisccon.org under the icon CSR & News.

Chapter 4: Problem Statement

Preamble:
We all having born with “body - mind - intellect” that has traversed six to nine decades of our life journey; is making us get recognised as a “senior citizen” in the society. We all have attained the grey hair stature; by acquiring many skills and rendering the competent services in varied fields over three to five decades that is unique to each one of us. Over the years we have learnt that the developmental processes continues in pace with the humanity aspirations & demographic changes. The world is gradually acknowledging the newer issues of concerns to seniors citizens; a fast growing community in the society of all ages.

There is hardly a recognition of the fact that whatever development world has attained in the preceding five decades is through the dedicated contributions made by the seniors citizens of today. Be it industrialisation, urbanisation, information technologies, infrastructure and all the changes that world has witnessed in the preceding five decades are quite amazing. But there are no tools available to make present youth and children to realise and appreciate these facts. Until recently over 4 million people were airborne world wide most of the time. World was still moving without such travels during the pandemic lockdowns. During lockdowns people aged over 65 years were advised to stay home; but we have large number of people above 65 years who have to necessarily earn their bread as a compulsion of life; where is the mechanism to trace / track such seniors!!!. Such extremes of lockdown era will have far reaching impacts on our upcoming lifestyle. The implications / cost of the lockdown only the time will tell. Nevertheless; we as human beings always aspire for the better to get unfolded in this World of chance, change and an interdependent living.

Current scenario:
In India, over 90% of the seniors are active ageing and below 10% are having limited self care capacity. The situation of the majority of seniors getting home confined due to COVID 19; for about two years by now; has caused many constraints in the lives of active seniors in the society. This may have even caused some seniors an undesirable inroads to the mental stress / dementia / Alzheimer related concerns due to home confinement as a compulsion of life. Anything that brings in hurdles in making life choices is stressful. It is therefore considered prudent to debate on the likely pathways for seniors to lead good lives despite being home confined as compulsion until the normalcy in the liveable environment gets restored.

“A society for all ages” was the theme in United Nations while declaring 1999 as the “International Year of Older Persons”. Concurrently our National Policy on Older Persons emerged along with formation of a National Council of Senior Citizens to advise the Government on the issues of seniors. Subsequently Maintenance and Welfare of Parents and Senior Citizens Act 2007 came in being. Gradually the seniors a fast growing community are being detached as a separate segment in the society that is quite an alarming threat to “society of all ages”. In addition currently evolving lifestyle sailing mostly on screens; be it smart phones, computers, laptops, TV, projectors and more reliant on over 250 satellites in the outer space; the policies for seniors in the new normal deserves fresh measures.

Root cause:
Having surmounted the psychological pressures, isolation from society, emotional distress, suppression of feelings, dampening of physical activities during preceding 24 months of being home confined; our capacity has been built to manage issues of concerns unique to each one of us. The recent past have adversely impacted the lives of seniors on many counts. For example the facilities earlier granted for senior citizens were being gradually withdrawn/reduced like on travel concessions, interest rates, medical insurance, digital literacy mission etc.,. There is no visible sign of an intent of Governance system to improve the lives of seniors; rather the focus is shifting from social justice to social economy by creating portal for employment of senior citizens, contributing in the equity of start ups exclusively for producing goods/services for elderlies, promoting silver economy and more such initiatives.

In our childhood of present senior citizens most of the families had 6 to 12 children. Thus the grandparents enjoyed the home care in abundance. Today on our having attained grandparent stature; we find couples DINK (double income no kids) or 1 or 2 kids. Thus revival of big & joint families with home care dominance is an end of the pipe dream in the upcoming decades.

Problem:

The combined effect of all the above developments of recent past has caused the seniors to feel the isolation & neglect as a part of their normal life. The phenomenon though looking at its nascent stage is going to have serious implications in the coming decades. The demographic changes of one senior per ten people today to three seniors per ten people in coming 3-4 decades will have more isolation & neglect amongst the society of all ages. All round efforts are therefore required to arrest this trend to maintain the social fabric of all colours prevalent in the society. One such moves of nurturing the social fabric we considered is through bringing out AISCCON News print version under CSR grant. This would disseminate the details of events to those who are yet to be digitally literate and enhance our outreach amongst society of all ages. This will also involve blending seniors knowledge with the youth as a gesture of intergeneration equity.

Mitigation:

Sending of the print version of the AISCCON News as supplement to the digital circulation is expected to have the following impacts on the social fabric.

- The print version can be read by all others in the family, guest, visitors in the house of the recipient. The digital version normally has access limited to the recipient on his mobile or laptop.
- Once we start sending the print version to outside agencies/organisations/governance authorities, it will enhance the brand image of AISCCON/awareness in various offices of relevance to the concerns of senior citizens in the country.
- The print version will provide a large outreach to the Corporate House offering the CSR grant in the senior citizens segment of the society and related agencies/organisations/governance system.
- Easy access of print version of AISCCON News shall also attract readership amongst the youth there by contributing in bridging the gap emerging from withered families.
- The print version is expected to bring in the feel of real world amongst the readers under the growing influence of virtual world.
- The printed version would enable us to reach also the rural areas where they are not yet savvy with electronic version, with texts in English and Hindi, and other national languages, where necessary. Thus the print version shall give an opportunity for reading by those who are awaiting to be digitally literate.
- The print version shall also open avenues to communicate on wider horizon beyond virtual world, to share and to exchange the ‘best practices’ of the senior citizens organisations various parts of the country.
- The print version shall also be a conduit to enlighten the market driven economies to promote the products and services that are more effective/meaningful to the beneficiary elderlies in various domains of life support activities like health care, age care, nutrition and more.
- The print version; overall; is expected to give positive impact in redressal of isolation and neglect prevalent amongst the senior citizens due to various situations/circumstances. Let the virtual world not snatch away our right to living in synergy with nature, enjoy all the cosmic creations, maintain the healthy bondages with human relations, see the world as it is and just use the digitised world to ease out our life support activities, meet the professional needs, create better economic order to eliminate hunger, eradicate poverty etc.,.
